

EAGLE 1964

We, the staff of the '64 Eagle, have been forced with the problem of capturing between two covers the events of the past year. We have attempted to capture in picture the highlights that will recall the details of the 1963-1964 school year.

Dedication

We, the seniors of '64 wish to dedicate the '64 EAGLE to Donald Moody, our English Teacher. For his good sense of humor and interesting approach to the world of literature, we wish to show our appreciation.

Mr. Moody came with us and saw us through four years of high school. As our sponsor when we were freshmen and now as our Guidance Counselor, he has helped us to do many things and has helped many of us to decide what our future will be.

JACK SALMON
Superintendent

Superintendent's Message

Each individual progresses in life through a succession of teachers and each new mind we approach seems to require an abdication of part of our past and present possessions.

Every mind is offered its choice between truth and letargy. You must choose-you can never have both. Most often we vacillate between the two, never quite attaining either. If lethargy predominates, we accept the first creed, the first philosophy, the first political party we meet. We get rest, we exist, we have a good time, but we shut the door of truth. If the love of truth predominates, we will abstain from dogmatism, we will submit to the inconvenience of suspense and imperfect opinion, but we will feel a sense of fulfillment that is unequalled.

If we are to learn truth we must communicate. We must learn the language of facts. The most wonderful inspirations die with their subject if we cannot interpret them to ourselves and to others.

We are all wise. The difference between persons is not in wisdom but in art; and the art of communication is the goal of education. I may truly say to the students of DeLand-Weldon High, "I am present at the sowing of the seed of the world." You will determine the fruit of this seed by your wise or otherwise decision.

Principal's Message

Jonathon Swift, a British satirist, once stated, "Whoever makes two ears of corn, or two blades of grass to grow where only one grew before, deserves better of mankind, and does more essential service to his country than the whole race of politicians put together."

The above quotation is a realistic challenge to our rural youth. One facet of mind leads us directly to the realization of the importance of you as an individual. In our country you have the opportunity to educate yourself, to worship as you wish, to work in your chosen fields of interest, and to rise as high as you desire! By your daily work, by your dreams, by your attitude, by your behavior, by your patience, by your plans, and by your decisions - you determine to a great extent your own future. You are not a nobody - you are an individual - you are a somebody!•

Respectfully,

Denzil R. Halcom

Classes

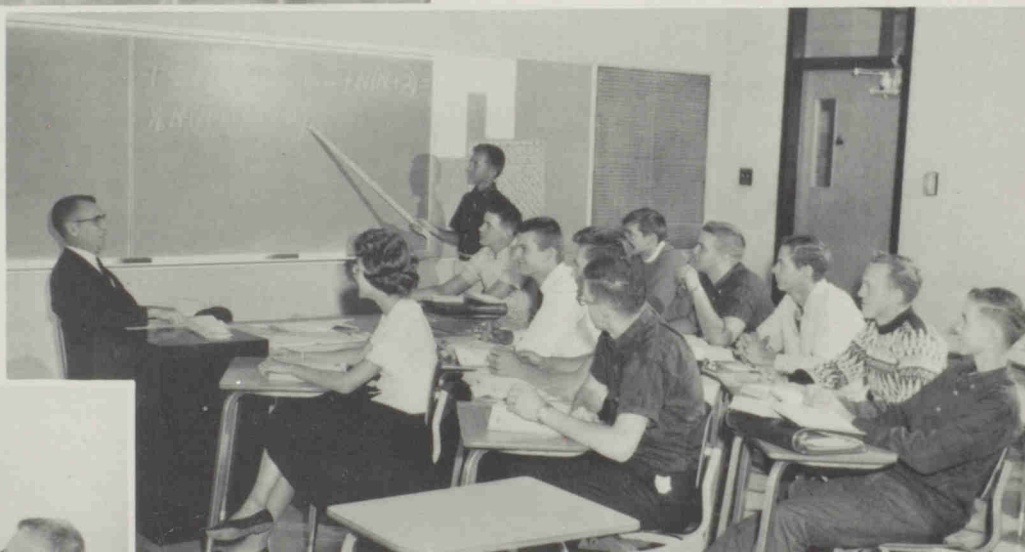

Math

Mathematics is the science treating of the exact relations existing between quantities or magnitudes and operations, and of the methods by which quantities sought are deducible from others known or supposed. In order to graduate, students must have at least two years of math. Freshmen choose either practical math, which was taught by Mr. Holste, or Algebra I, taught by Mr. Banks. Those taking practical math take Algebra I their sophomore year; those taking Algebra take plane geometry.

In plane geometry students study two dimensional figures. Geometry is supposed to help one learn to think logically. This year Mr. Banks had twenty-seven sophomores in his geometry class.

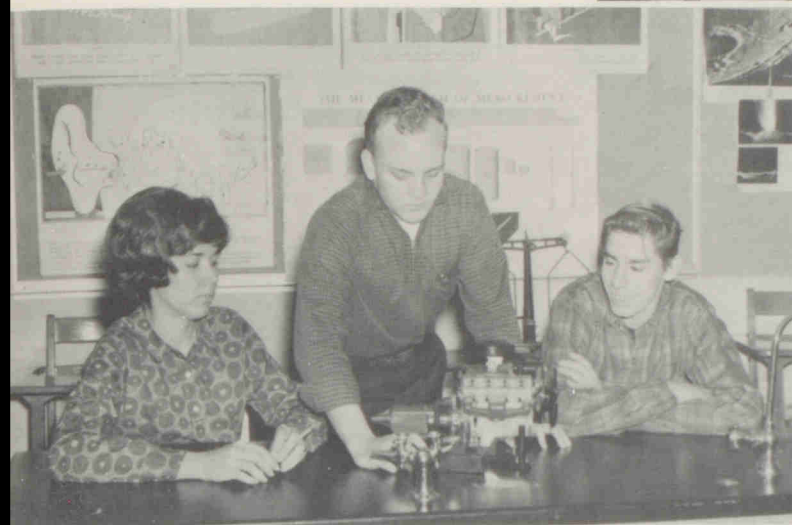

Algebra II is for students who have completed Algebra I and most students have completed plane geometry. The class consisted of nine boys and one girl. Three seniors took modern math. This is the most advanced mathematics course taught in our high school. It consists of one semester of trigonometry and one semester of solid geometry, and modern mathematics.

Science

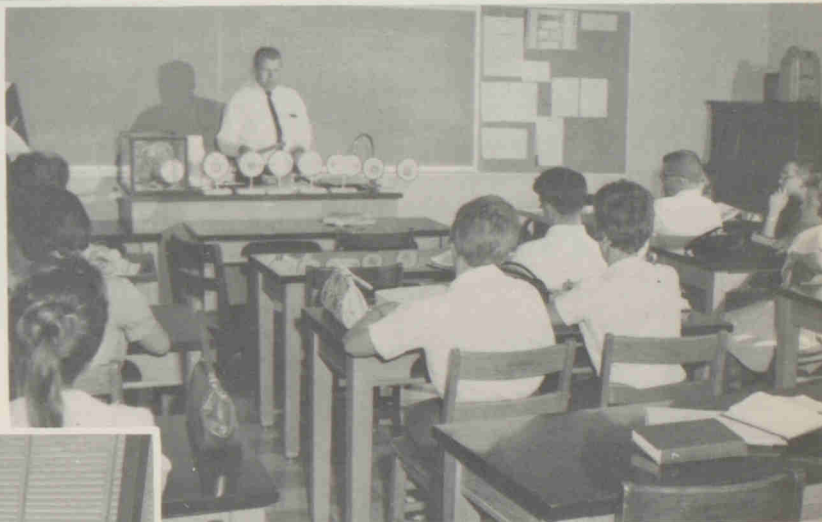

Physics--the study of energy and matter. These juniors and seniors look interested in their work.

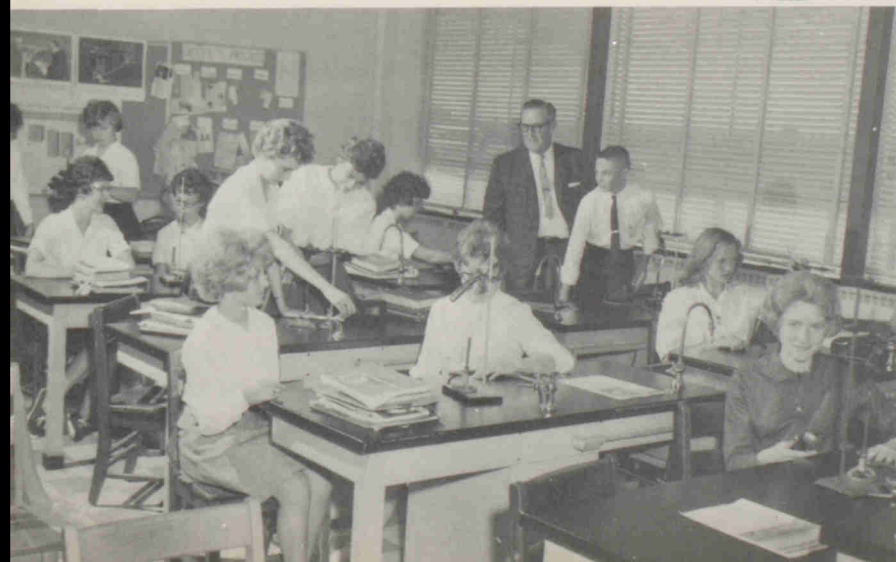

The physical science class assembled a visible V-8 engine.

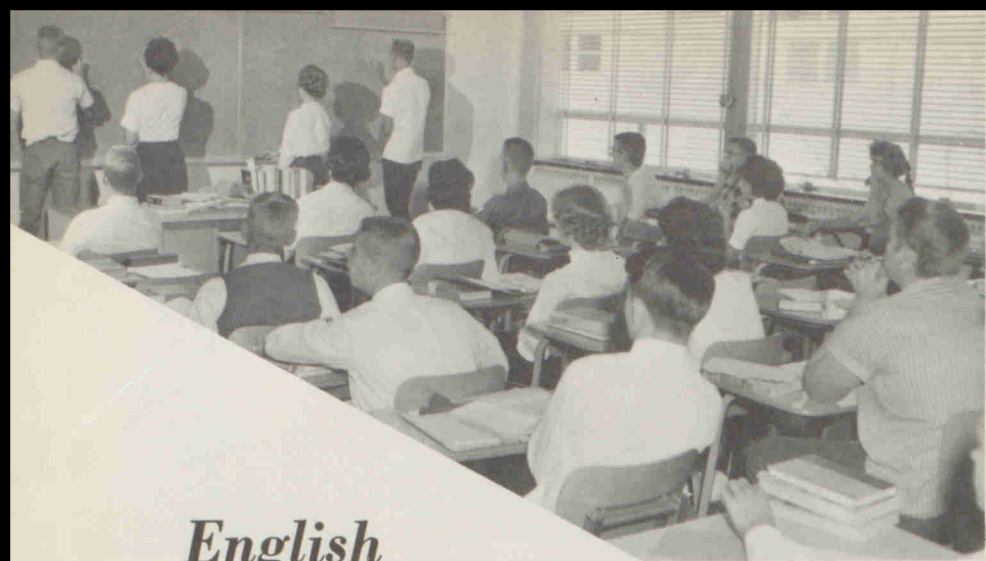

Biology--the study of living things. The sophomores learn the stages of mitosis.

General science--This is the freshman's introduction to scientific method.

English

The Sophomores' main worries in literature are the novel SILAS MARNER and the play JULIUS CAESAR. They study the parts of the sentence clauses, and verbs in grammar.

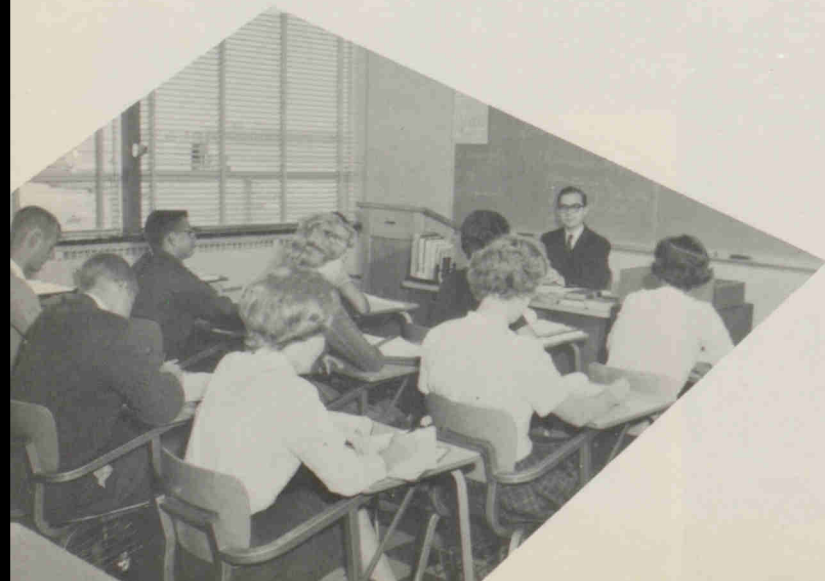

In French II the students learn the complicated verb forms. In second year French they enjoy the singing more because they can understand them.

and French

In French I the students learn nouns and simple verb forms.

The Seniors in English IV studied the play HAMLET by Shakespeare. They also attended the play at Millikin. Contrary to popular belief that Chaucer was a new saucer for chocolate milk, they found out that he was the person who wrote CANTERBURY TALES. Their big project in grammar was writing a term paper.

The juniors in American History study the building of our nation and of all the trials that have made America great.

Social Science

The six seniors and eleven sophomores in World History study the civilizations of the Old World. Their favorite saying is by Santayana;

"Those who cannot remember the past are condemned to repeat it."

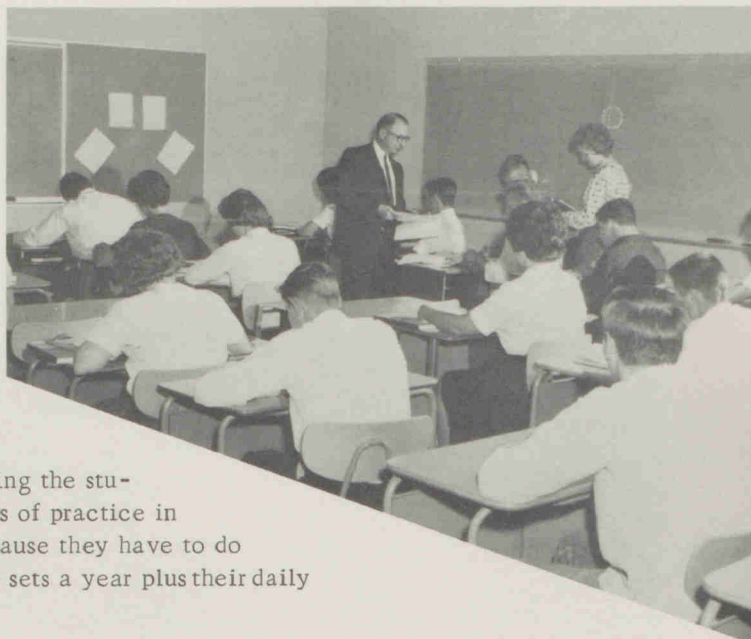

The seniors in American Problems study problems of the American Government, the U.S. Constitution, and the Ill. Constitution.

A good saying for the seniors to remember was said by Lord North; "All power corrupts; absolute power corrupts absolutely."

Commerce

Typing

In bookkeeping the students get lots of practice in addition because they have to do two practice sets a year plus their daily exercises.

One of the jobs of the office monitor is to run the ditto machine. Here we see Shirley running off the schedule of the week's events.

In shorthand II the students learn about office procedures, take dictation, and transcribe letters.

Danny Shofner, one of the office practice students, is putting Books into the storage room.

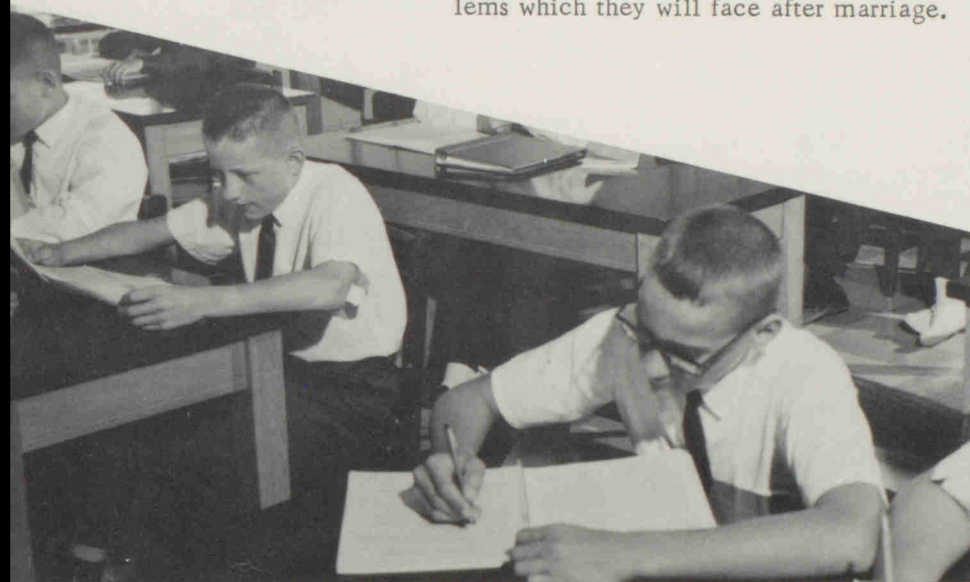

Home Making

The freshmen in Homemaking learn the p's and q's of serving meals. The Sophomore class studies the cuts of meats and colors that look best for different complexions. Family Living students discuss many problems which they will face after marriage.

Agriculture

The agriculture classes learn much about farming and agronomy in general. Every boy has a project which he does his best to develop and on which he keeps records. To those continuing as farmers, the information acquired in the classroom on grain production, stock, soil conservation, and farm management will be most valuable.

Mr. Moody, guidance counselor

Guidance

Mr. Moody advises Doug Halcomb, Bob Leischner, and Dean Parrish concerning their future careers.

Physical Education

All students take physical education, which includes wrestling, tumbling, volleyball, floor soccer, baseball, basketball, and track for boys and archery, volley tennis, volleyball, and badminton for girls. Both girls and boys take one six weeks of swimming. The P.E. students also take the physical fitness tests.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

The National Association of Secondary Principals founded the National Honor Society forty-three years ago. There are more than ten thousand chapters of this society in American schools throughout the world. The declared purpose of the society is "to create an enthusiasm for Scholarship, to stimulate a desire to render Service, to promote Leadership, and to develop Character in America's students. Membership in this chapter is based on four points: a grade average of at least 4.25, Leadership, Service, and Character. Candidates are elected to the society by the high school faculty.

The National Honor Society in DeLand-Weldon Senior High began in 1962 with the induction of eight members by the Clinton chapter. Two of the students were held over until 1963 when they inducted six students. Two of these students, Loretta Kidd and Allyne Remmers, were held over until 1964 at which time they conducted the induction ceremonies during which John Bergland, Jeanne Hopkins, Diane Westray, and Sam Baker were inducted.
